100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bear-skin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

I will give the above reward for apprehending and securing said fellow so that I get him again, and reasonable charges if brought home.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward; and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.

All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. Missouri and Illinois Bounty Lands

THE subscriber has now for sale a number of the most valuable tracts, in both of those rich and improving bodies of lands, and can supply applicants with any number they may wish, and in any part of either territory. Every person who visits the Western Country, particularly those who intend settling there, should take with them a few quarter sections of those lands; every man who has a young and growing family, and can spare a few hundred dollars, should not miss the present opportunity of getting some of those lands; as it will insure to his children a greater certainty than any other investment he can possibly make for their benefit.—From the immense emigration to both Illinois and Missouri, particularly to the military lands, it is certain there must be a great rise in the price very soon, and those who miss the present opportunity, will never again have a chance to do so well. The patents will be sold very low, for cash, good notes or bonds at short dates, or bank stock in the Central Bank of Georgetown and Washington, and the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown. As I am a large dealer in Military Bounty Lands, I can supply any number that may be required.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1819.

The deaths in the city of Baltimore for the 48 hours ending on the morning of the 19th, were 51, of which number 27 died of the yellow fever. And for the 24 hours ending on the 21st, 19—16 by yellow fever.

HEALTH OF BOSTON.

"Since our last," says the Boston Centinel of the 15th instant, "this town has not enjoyed quite so favorable a state of health as during the preceding ten days; but the disease which excites most concern, is still confined to a small section of the town.—Since Friday there have been 16 deaths, of which four have been of malignant, and 2 of typhus fevers. We made enquiries late last evening, and ascertained, that most of those then ill of fever were convalescent, and that the type of what is denominated malignant fever, has become milder. Yesterday we had a fine, bracing north-wester; and we did not hear of the occurrence of a single case of sickness thereon.

ATTEMPT TO MURDER.

On Friday night last an attempt was made by two men, armed with a pistol and a dirk, to murder Mr. MIMMS, a respectable and peaceable old man, who keeps the toll-house of Trent's bridge; but although he was severely wounded, we are happy to learn his life is now considered out of danger. The following is the account Mr. Mimms gives of the affair:—About ten o'clock, he was alone in the toll-house, and partly undressed to go to bed, when he heard a person walking on the bridge.—Mr. M. opened the door to go out and receive the toll, when a decently dressed young man approached, and gave him a pewter dollar to change and pay for his toll, at the same time asking for a drink of water. Mr. M. pointed to a pitcher of water on a table and told the stranger to help himself, while he went to a light to examine the supposed dollar, which he had not discovered to be counterfeit, the night being very dark. At the moment Mr. M. turned to go to the candle, a person on the outside, whom Mr. M. had not seen, fired a pistol at him, the contents of which lodged in his arm, and immediately the other villain plunged a dirk into his back, which entered about six inches & remained sticking in him. Mr. M. then seized a club to defend himself, and cried out for help.—A negro who was at a short distance, answered, when the villains retreated across the bridge and effected their escape, leaving the pewter dollar and the dirk. Next morning the ram-rod of the pistol was found on the bridge.

The dirk was drawn out by the negro who came to Mr. M's assistance, and a surgeon was promptly obtained, by whose skill the wounded man has so far recovered as to be thought out of danger, although the dagger wound was for some time tho't to be mortal.

The object of the villains must have been money, but had they succeeded in murdering their victim, they would have been disappointed in this, for Mr M. had not over three dollars in his possession at the time.—The villains are not yet apprehended.

Winchester, (Va.) Sept. 18.

MURDER.

The body of a young man was found most inhumanly mangled on Friday the 10th inst. under the Barn of Moses Newbank, in this County. From several circumstances, suspicion was immediately fixed upon a mulatto fellow who had been in Newbanks' employ, of the name of Jerry. This fellow it appears had subsequently entered into a gentleman's employ to drive his Team to Alexandria; and had proceeded as far as Snicker's Gap where he was overtaken by the persons sent in pursuit of him. He has since made a full disclosure of all the circumstances connected with this diabolical affair. The deceased had previously, and for several months been in the employ of Joseph Baker, Esq. of this county: but his engagement with him having expired, he received the balance due him (about 15 dols.) and set out to seek further employment. On Sunday, the 22nd ult. he unfortunately fell in company with the monster, who afterwards became his murderer. Two or three half pints of whiskey were successively purchased from Mrs. Newbanks, with which they retired to the barn; here, the fellow says, a dispute arose between them over a game of marbles; that the deceased struck him; that he defended himself, and in the fight killed the lad, and afterwards buried him under the Barn. A quantity of blood was, however, observed upon the barn floor, a mattock also close by; hence it is believed that the murder was deliberately committed to obtain the money and property of the young man, as he was immediately robbed of the former, and his hat was also in the possession of the murderer. Respecting the young man, Mr. Baker has communicated to us the following information:—

"He told my family that his mother was a widow; that she lived on the Ohio side of the river, not far from Wheeling; that he absconded from her; was about 18 or 19 years old; of short statue; he called himself James Hunter."

Charleston, September 15.

John Fisher and Joseph Roberts, who escaped from the Jail in this city on the evening of the 13th inst. were apprehended last night, and safely lodged in prison this morning. It appears that they were secured through the information of a Mr. Bull, grocer, on South Bay. Mr. Bull's statetment is chiefy as follows:—They arrived in a small canoe last night about 11 o'clock, on South-Bay, and Roberts proceeded to the store of Mr Bull to purchase several articles of grocery. After his departure, the suspicions of Mr. B. being excited, he traced them to Williman's wharf, and found them concealed under a Wood Boat. After setting a watch over them, he immediately lodged information with the City Guard, as to their place of concealment, by which means they were apprehended.

It was, we understand, the intention of the prisoners to leave the city in a schnr. bound for Matanzas; and that the object of their return was to effect the release, also, of Mrs. Fisher, which was prevented at the time of their own escape, from the circumstance of the breaking of the line, by which they descended, when they were about twenty feet from the ground.

A number of gold pieces and watches were found in their possession.

New-York, Sept. 17.

INDICTMENTS FOR PIRACY.

On the 24th August last, Thomas A. Bass of Richmond, Virginia, who commanded the armed schooner La Constantia, was arrested in this city, by virtue of a warrant issued by Judge Livingston, on a charge of piracy. The affidavit on which the warrant was grounded, states, that the La Constantia used a fabricated commission, under which she cruised with the Artigas flag, and captured property of great value. The prisoner was committed to the Bridewell of this city on the above charge, and at the late sitting of the Circuit Court of the United States, on the 6th September inst. a bill of indictment for piracy was found against him by the Grand Jury. In consequence of his not being ready for trial, his cause did not come on, and he will therefore remain in custody until the next session of the Circuit Court, in April next.—Three other indictments were found by the same Grand Jury, and one for piracy and murder. On the latter, the prisoner was tried and convicted, and will suffer death.

LOSS OF THE SHIP FAWN.

It is with much regret, we announce the loss in the Arabian Gulf of the fine ship, FAWN, of this port, owned by the honorable Wm. Gray. Capt. Austin, and the crew of the Fawn have arrived at Portland from Bombay as passengers. Capt. Austin not having yet reached town, we are unacquainted with the particulars of the loss. The Fawn, with her cargo, is estimated to have cost 120,000, and was insured only to the amount of about 40,000 dollars. [Boston Patriot.

FROM LABRADOR.

Capt. Hickey, who arrived at Newburyport last Sunday from Rosberry Harbor, informs that a report was received there from Halifax, that a piratical man of war, supposed a Carthagenian, appeared off that place 28th of August, when an armed vessel was sent out to attack her, which soon fell in with the pirate, and that an engagement ensued, which lasted an hour and a half, when both vessels disappeared; and that four days afterwards the English vessel had not returned to port, nor any account of her, or her antagonist received.

"The accounts from Prussia continue to wear a gloomy aspect. The unfortunate division between the king and his subjects threatens some serious consequences It is said that Field Marshal Blucher is closely watched. Gneisenau, next to Blucher in rank, and Governor of Berlin, is under actual arrest. The Prince, Army, and People, form one party, while the King, with his Ministry and the nobility, forms another. Time only can tell what the consequence will be."

From the New-Orleans Friend of the Laws.

SIR—Seeing in your paper of yesterday, some observations on the project of a passage to the Pacific Ocean, by means of a canal, across the Isthmus of Darien, brings to my mind a proposition made to the King of Spain, by Sr. Dn. Salvador St. Martin, the Bishop of Chiapa, who resides in Cindad Real, which is the capital.—West of this the river Goazaccalos, takes its rise, and running N. E. empties into the Gulph of Mexico, about 30 leagues east of Vera Cruz; it has ten and twelve feet of water on its bar, and is navigable for craft of 4 or 5 feet up to the above city.—East of the said city the river, (or a stream which empties into the river) Chimilapa takes its rise, and taking a westerly direction empties into the Pacific Ocean, at the port of Tehauntipa, which is a good harbor for large ships, and the river is navigable for craft of four and five feet up to the above city of Cindad Real, the two rivers passing each other at or near the city, in nearly a parallel line at the distance of only seven miles from each other; neither of them have falls to impede their navigation, and the ground through which a canal would have to be cut, to connect the two rivers, is neither mountainous nor rocky.

I have seen a minute description of the rivers, and the countries through which they pass, contained in a petition to the King of Spain, begging permission to cut the above canal; it was presented in the year 1816, and contained the most convincing evidence of the facility with which the oceans might be connected The petition met with an utter denial from the King of Spain. Had it been granted, the intention of those concerned was to have steam-boats employed between the two oceans, which would have made a voyage in much less time than it occupies between this and Louisville; and, as the mouth of the Guazaccalos is no more than eight or ten days sail from the mouth of the Mississippi, may we not with propriety, hope that Spanish America will soon shake off the European yoke, when she will be at liberty to make improvements for her own benefit, without consulting those who have no rule of government but their own jealous fears. Should such a communication be opened between the two oceans, what calculations can realize the future grandeur of New-Orleans?

Boston, September 14.

From Bell's Messenger, of Aug. 8, received at the office of the Boston Patriot.

A report prevailed yesterday in the city, that negociations are going on between the government of this country and that of Spain, the professed object of which is to enable certain British commissioners in Mexico to transmit thence to England specie to the amount of ten millions of dollars in British ships of war. The real object, however, is, to protect by the British flag so much Spanish property from the independent privateers, into whose power it would most probably fall, if the owners were rash enough to venture transmitting it to Europe in a Spanish bottom. It is pretended that the Convention by which the dollars are to obtain safe convoy, will operate to the advantage of this country, by enabling the Bank of England to make better and more effectual preparations for resuming payments in specie; but it is very evident from the present price of silver bullion in the market, that the bank of England is not reduced to the necessity of sending to Mexico for the purchase of dollars. There can be no objection to the principle, however, of this transaction.—As a government, we are necessarily bound in good offices to the government of Ferdinand, but we are not equally bound to the Independents. In other words, we are compelled by our relations of amity with the Spanish government to do all those offices usual between friendly powers, and this is one of them. It is absurd to talk of neutral rights and neutral duties. This is not our relation. The belligerent parties are not in the relation of equal belligerents towards us as a third party, but one of the belligerents is a friend and an ally, and the other an unacknowledged power at war with this friend and ally. We may keep out of the quarrel, of course, if we please, but we must not assist the latter in contrariety with our express duties towards the former, nor can the Independents complain that we perform offices to which the law of nations obliges all friendly powers, that is, all powers of peace. The fallacy of all the arguments on this question results from this error, that they are equal belligerents, and that our relations with both is that of neutrality.

The public are naturally anxious for some accounts from Lima, to which city Gen. Marten, the Buenos Ayres General, is approaching by land, whilst Lord Cochrane is blocking up the harbor by sea. If General Marten should be able to effect his march, the city will probably fall, as the country is supposed to be divided in his favor. Venezuela is, however, the great point of contest. It has sometimes suggested itself to our minds, that the temerity of Lord Cochrane, and his strange pervesity of judgment, will eventually lead him into some fatal error—some attack, perhaps, upon, or some forcible resistance to, the British frigates upon the South American coast. We should most seriously regret that so brave a man should fall into such an irretrievable ruin; but thus it is, where courage, and we may add, great natural talents, are not under the guidance of a mind duly cultivated with religion and morals, or rather set them at nought, as the Chinese do European science, because they cannot comprehend what they have never learned.

FROM LONDON PAPERS,

Received at the Office of the Franklin Gaz.

London, August 7.

The chamber of deputies of Baden was, it appears, dissolved on the 28th ultimo, the day threatened by the Grand Duke, without any determination having been come to respecting the financial questions. The deputies have been thus effectually prevented for the present from pursuing their course of economy, and they are not to be convoked again till February or March next; but however long the period, the deputies elected to the next chamber will no doubt bear in mind the obstructions thrown in the way of their predecessors, in their endeavors to obtain an economical expenditure of the public money, and they will be the more determined to carry so laudable an object into effect.

The session of the chambers in Bavaria was also terminated on the 25th ult. by Duke William of Bavaria, in the name of the King; and a lecture from his majesty was read to the chamber of deputies, warning them against attempting to encroach upon the prerogatives of the crown. The head and front of their offending was, as we have already stated, their love of economy, which became very unpalatable to the government, when it touched the military expenditure.

From Berlin it is mentioned, that the Count de Vallejo, the Spanish minister there, had set out for Carlsbad.

An article from Rastadt, of the 25th ult. mentions, that the Prince de Metternich had arrived at Carlsbad, where his chancery had preceded him; this looks something like a lengthened negociation. The Russian envoy at Berlin, and the Count Munster had also arrived there; and M. de Bernstorff, the Prussian Minister for foreign affairs, was expected.

The dissolution of the legislature of Baden, in consequence of the spirited determination of the Chamber of deputies to reduce the army estimates from 1,700,000 to 1,411,052 florins, and the virtual abrogation of the constitution of that country by its sovereign, affords much matter for reflection. It shows us that the individuals elected as representatives by the people of Germany, are determined at all hazards to discharge their duty towards their constituents with firmness and honesty. It shows us also in what manner we are to expect the extinction of that military mania, the existence of which on the continent was so feelingly deplored by Lord Castlereagh. Here we see the people uniformly exerting themselves to reduce military establishments, and the governments as regularly exerting themselves to retain them intact. We have reason to infer from this, that if all Germany had constitutional governments, the consequence would be a general reduction of military establishments, and that till the governments become constitutional, no such reduction is to be expected.

Lord Castlereagh congratulated himself on the re-erection of the military monarchies of Austria and Prussia, as a bulwark against France. But what dependence can be placed on an absolute government?—Who can calculate on the course which such a government, under any circumstances, will pursue? The bribery of a favorite mistress, may decide the sovereign to measures the most ruinous to the state over which he is placed. The thirty states of Germany, so long as the governments are independent of the people, will always be the theatre of cabal and intrigue, and the security of Europe may at any time be endangered by the vice, the wickedness, or the folly of corrupt ministers and mistresses, and imbecile sovereigns.

But were constitutions established, and the different courts obliged to account to the people for all their acts, then we might consider Europe in a state of complete security on the side of Germany. One individual may act inconsistently or wickedly, but the body of the people would be true to their own interests; and consequently we could always know in what manner they would act. It could never be their interest that their common country should be sacrificed to the petty ambition or vanity of their ruler; and hence they would resist all measures which might have the effect of opening their country to any invader.—Hence we might rely with the most perfect confidence on their determination, on all occasions, to preserve peace and resist aggression. The corrupt game which the French have so long played with the courts of Germany would be at an end; and Europe might at length indulge in the hope of security in her most vulnerable quarter.

But we must renounce these hopes; the mad ambition of these infatuated sovereigns must be gratified at all hazards, and Germany seems doomed to be obliged to conquer her liberty and independence, at the expence of torrents of blood and all the miseries of civil convulsions.

New York, September 20.

VERY LATE.

Captain Webb, of the ship Athens, arrived last night in the very short passage of 22 days from Cork, has obligingly favored the editors of the New York Gazette with Cork papers to the 22d of August.

RIOTS AT MANCHESTER.

On Monday the 16th of August the Reform Meeting was held at Manchester.—There were not less at this meeting than 100,000 people collected from all the villages round for 20 miles. Orator Hunt was the leader. The approach of the different bodies of the deluded populace, of which it was constituted, was made with all manner of outward display, in order to impose forbearance on the civil authorities. Banners and bands of music added their effect to the march of the different divisions of the reformers, which was conducted with something like military precision.—Among the former were several bearing the following inscription and device. "Let us die like men, and not be sold as slaves!" No corn laws—Annual parliaments, and universal suffrage—Major Cartwright's bill—The rose supported on each side by the shamrock and thistle, with two hands united, and the word union among them—Three different flags bearing the cap of liberty on the flag staff. "Equal representation or death!—Taxation, with false representation, is unjust and tyrannical."—Women, in considerable numbers, were united in these processions, and advanced with them to the general place of meeting in Peter's Square. When every thing of preliminary arrangement had concluded, Hunt with his immediate party, mounted a platform prepared for their reception, from whence he proceeded to address the multitude. His harangue was suffered to go on one hour, until the riot act, had been read in due form, and then he was interupted by a body of cavalry, acting under the orders of the civil magistrates. They made a full charge in full gallop, amongst the crowd to the platform on which he was placed, cut it down with their swords, and took Hunt and all on the stage prisoners.

They then made a second charge to disperse the people, in which hundreds were thrown down and rode over. Five lost their lives, and about 100 were severely wounded. All continued confusion till evening, when the mob broke some windows in the New Cross. The 88th foot then fired on them and killed 4 men; they were assailed by the mob with stones and brickbats, and one dragoon was knocked down from his horse senseless by a blow, and has since died. On the 17th all was alarm, and the streets crowded with militia. Orders were issued for all the shops to be closed, and it was reported that some thousands were coming to Manchester with pikes and arms. Cannon was placed in the streets, but the mob seemed desperate, and determined to have revenge. [Our accounts are no later than the 17th]. Hunt, Johnson, Knight, Morehouse, Saxton and the other leaders of the Reformers, were imprisoned in separate cells.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. Wm Hawley, Washington,
Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria,
Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria,
Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace"

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26
